A Sharp Deal

by our Mr. Tyler, while in New York the past week, enables us to offer at underprices several hundred Choice, Snappy Suits for Young Men and Boys. These garments are all of late styling, superlatively tailored, and constructed of the best wearproof fabrics.

One of the best-known makers of Boys' and Young Men's Clothes had on his hands an overproduction of cleverly made Winter Clothes. Our buyer saw the opportunity, and a low cash offer was reluctantly accepted.

They're really worth twice what we paid, but having bought them at underprice, the trade can share in this great cost-saving, if you come early enough.

Remember, only a limited number of Suits to reach 'round to our thrifty customers who want double value for their money.

Blacksburg Social.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BLACKSBURG, VA., November 17.—The students of the agricultural department of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute will begin the publication in the next few weeks of a quarterly magazine, to be known as the V. P. I. Agricultural Journal. This magazine will be edited by the students of this department, and is designed to foster interest in agricultural work, and to give, through the medium of articles written by the members of the class, the results of their observations, gained through practical field work, as well as the theory on which such work is conducted. The quarterly will have a field peculiarly its own. Its staff will consist of F. S. Holmes, editor-in-chief, W. L. Mallory and E. G. Parsonage, associate editors; J. E. Henderson, business manager, and F. H. James, assistant business manager.

The German Club of the Institute gave an informal hop Saturday night in honor of Miss Hilda and Miss Grace, of Paducah, Ky., who have been the guests of Mrs. J. E. Williams, on the campus. The German Club at its meeting this week admitted thirteen new members, and made plans for the regular Thanksgiving evening, which will be danced the first Friday night in December in the Assembly Hall.

An engagement announced this week, and which is of interest not only in Virginia, but in South Carolina, the bride-elect's native State, is that of Miss Natalie Aiken, of Blacksburg, and Mr. John W. Stull, of Covington, Va. Miss Aiken has made her home here for several years with her sister, Mrs. S. R. Fritchard, and has been prominent in the social and church work of the community and has a host of friends among the Virginia Polytechnic Institute students of late years. Mr. Stull is a graduate of the college here, and a former instructor, now employed in the iron works of Allegheny county. The wedding will take place at the home of Miss Aiken's brother-in-law, Dr. W. G. Neville, in Clinton, S. C., Thursday, December 27th, and after a wedding trip they will make their home at Lanesville, Va. Mrs. Fritchard and Miss Aiken left today for South Carolina, to remain until after the wedding. A number of informal teas have been given during the past week in the ladies' honor. Miss Aiken is a sister of Congressman Aiken, of the Third District of South Carolina, and a member of one of the leading families of that State.

Mrs. J. H. Shultz entertained this evening in honor of the young men of her Sunday school class and some of the young ladies of the town and college. Her guests were invited to exercise their wit in several guessing contests, and dainty refreshments were served when 40 prizes had been awarded to the lucky ones.

The congregation of the Roanoke Valley Presbyterian Church observed Wednesday of this week as "Afton Day," the members meeting at the church and planting a number of trees and shrubs in the grounds around the building. Lanesville was served by the ladies, and a large crowd was present.

Mrs. Robertson, of Richmond, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. M. McBride, at "The Grove," returned to her home Tuesday.

Mr. R. M. Patterson, of Philadelphia, has purchased a portion of the "Eden Hill" property, near town, and will build a summer home there.

Misses Hilda and Grace, of Paducah, Ky., who have been the guests of Mrs. J. E. Williams, went from here to attend the Almond-Witt wedding, in Lynchburg.

Miss Lucy Patton, of Lexington, is still the guest of Mrs. Williams.

Cross-Ballard.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., November 17.—On Wednesday evening Miss Alice Ballard, the pretty daughter of Mrs. M. F. Ballard, became the bride of Mr. Jeter D. Cross, a well-known young business man of Bristol. The nuptials were celebrated at the home of the bride, on Winston Street. Rev. T. C. Schuler, pastor of Mary Street Methodist Church, officiating.

Radford Social.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RADFORD, VA., November 17.—Mrs. T. M. Turner was hostess to the Current Events Club Thursday, a number of guests being present besides club members. The course in Virginia history was continued, and elaborate refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Colla Turner and Elberta Harris.

Misses Laura and Mackie Ingles entertained the Afternoon Idlers Saturday afternoon. The gathering was a large one, and the new game, board-house whist, was much enjoyed. Refreshments were served and the drive to town was made "mild falling shadows." The entertainment was given in honor of Miss Ethel Jones, of Roanoke, who was the guest of the Misses Ingles from Friday until Sunday.

A pleasant hop was given by the Cotillion Club Saturday evening at the West End Hotel in honor of Miss Ethel Jones.

Miss Julia Ballard entertained a few friends informally Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Evan R. Chesterman, of Richmond, who was her guest from Thursday until Saturday. The feature of the evening was the beautiful singing of Mrs. Chesterman and Mr. Edmund Sanford Jones, who possesses one of the finest tenor voices in the State, and is a favorite wherever he is heard. Mrs. Oscar B. Pryor was the accompanist of the evening.

Mrs. William Ingles entertained Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Chesterman. The afternoon was given over to music, and Mrs. Chesterman delighted all by her beautiful voice and charm of manner. Others who played and sang were: Mrs. Oscar B. Pryor, Mrs. J. Lewis Ingles, Mrs. W. H. Patton, Mrs. T. E. Vaughn and Mrs. Porter. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Nellie Smith.

Dr. Charles Edmund Fisher entertained a party of six Friday morning on his gasoline launch. The Radford Belle, in honor of Mrs. Chesterman. After driving to the mouth of Little River, a stretch of three miles along the banks of New River, the party took boat and for several hours enjoyed the beautiful scenery of the river, which is an eighth of a mile wide at this point and is skirted by high headlands, broad meadows and gently-rolling hills. It was a perfect Indian summer day and the trip was a very delightful one, the party reaching home in time for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Caldwell and little son, Walter, Jr., are guests at the Mecklenburg, Chase City. Mr. Caldwell having had to give up his business in New York on account of ill health. Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell lived formerly in Lynchburg, where Mr. Caldwell was a prominent young business man. His wife was Miss Nellie Bell.

Miss Melba Wilson was hostess to the Six Couple Euchre Club Wednesday evening.

Miss Mildred Twin gave a tacky party to the R. G. G. Club Saturday. Miss Emma Ragland winning the prize for the best costume. Miss Annie Kavanagh entertained the club Friday evening.

Mrs. L. O. Ballard was called to Lynchburg Wednesday by the critical illness of her brother-in-law, Rev. F. P. Ballard, whose death would not be a surprise at any time.

Miss Pearl Rosenfeld has returned from St. Luke's Hospital, where she was operated on for appendicitis.

Mrs. Hugh P. Jordan, of Bluefield, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. M. Turner, for several days last week, returning Tuesday.

Mr. Thomas Mount is dangerously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. S. Jones. His son, Mr. Keener Mount, and little grandson, Wiley, of Tennessee, visited him this week, on their way to Baltimore, and will return in a day or two.

Mrs. Fields Baldwin, who was taken to Richmond in a very dangerous condition and operated on Tuesday by Dr. George H. Johnston, though not yet out of danger, is doing nicely, as well as her little son. Her husband is with her.

Mr. Truman Ballard has purchased the Ivory business of Mr. H. M. Conrad.

The ladies of St. Martha's Guild held a rummage sale Thursday and Friday for the benefit of the Episcopal Church.

Miss Saunders, of Graham, who was the guest of Mrs. E. S. Jones Saturday and Sunday, sang at Bourne Memorial Church Sunday. Miss Saunders has a splendid voice, and all who traveled the inclement weather had a treat in her singing.

Miss Caperton Preston has accepted a position in Norfolk.

Miss Kittle Ingles left Tuesday to go in training at St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond, as a nurse.

Mrs. Carey Preston and little daughter, Katherine, also Mrs. Sarah Preston, left this week for Blacksburg, where they will spend the winter.

The ladies of St. Martha's Guild will give the Mikado during the first week of December.

True Love.

By SIR JOHN SUCKLING.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

No, no, fair heretic, it needs must be
But an ill love in me,
And worse for thee,
For were it in my power
To love thee now this hour
More than I did the last;
'Twould then so fall;
I might not love at all;
Love that can flow, and can admit increase,
Admits as well an ebb, and may grow less.

True love is still the same; the torrid zones,
And those more frigid ones
It must not know;
For love grown cold or hot,
Is lust, or friendship, not
The thing we have.
For that's a flame would die
Held down, or up too high;
Then think I love more than I can express,
And would love more, could I but love thee less.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, Oct. 11, 1903. One is published each day.
